Sample Answer to a QUESTION from www.astrowork.com

A job opportunity would be forthcoming in the fall of 2006, with a likely start date in January 07. The job could well encourage you to move, although that could be an across-town move rather than changing cities. But if you're house-hunting, keep that date in mind as well as a potential target date! The career position would be one that would bring you a great new position, much improved self-esteem, lots of success and feeling great.

You need a job where you can be energetic, actively go after what you want, and frankly, make a lot of money at it .

The thing you want to watch out for with your chart is that you need occasional down time, to refresh yourself and recharge your batteries. You are quite a go-getter when it comes to your job, and you can exhaust yourself with all your enthusiasm and energy. There is nothing wrong with taking time out occasionally just to loaf, and to enjoy yourself. That is just as important as career success. However, you feel guilty when you take time out for yourself, and you have to work hard at changing that. Remember that you deserve and need down time in order to be at your best at work!

You are very good at taking care of other people – you have to work equally hard at taking care of yourself! You tend to underestimate your own abilities, your own worth, and you're awfully hard on yourself. You don't nurture yourself as much as you should – anytime you feel guilty about taking time out for fun, or time out for you, realize that you're SUPPOSED to be doing that, and quit feeling guilty!

And what you're supposed to be working on now is your relationship – you have a need for independence in a relationship, lots of personal freedom but you also want to be taken care of and nurtured. Sometimes it must be hard to balance this all out! When you find yourself not sharing your innermost thoughts, retreating emotionally instead of sharing, try hard to remember that there's nothing wrong with you being dependent on him, and him on you. Part of the experience of being a Scorpio Sun is to let yourself be completely immersed in life and all its complicated emotional feelings and ups and downs – so when you find yourself "running for cover" rather than facing things, try to admit what you're feeling and say that out loud!
